The following County ordinance, passed by the Board of Supervisors on July 10, 1946, is quoted for the benefit of those who are not familiar with this law:

"'Be it Resolved by the Board of Supervisors of Appomattox County, as provided by law, that it shall be unlawful to sell or explode Fire Works of any kind or description in the County of Appomattox on and after October 1, 1946. That any person or corporation violating the provisions of this Ordinance shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of not less than Five Dollars, nor more than Fifty Dollars for each offense.

"'And it is ordered that notice of the adoption of this resolution be published in the County Paper for two successive weeks, as provided by law.'

"I have had numerous complaints about people shooting fire works dangerously near people's homes and in crowds in the past few weeks, and I just want to inform the people in order to save them future embarrassment that the parents should caution their children with reference to the use of fire works."
